

Kevin Hengstler, FCIP, CIP

Vice President, National Operations

Calgary, AB

Overview

Kevin Hengstler is a senior insurance executive with over 25 years of experience leading national operations, claims strategy, and catastrophe response across Canada. As Vice President of National Operations at ParioQuantify, he oversees a multidisciplinary team delivering complex valuations and cost consulting services for insurance carriers, municipalities, and legal stakeholders.

With a foundation in general insurance and business administration, Kevin's career has led from claims adjusting to executive leadership. He has managed large-scale response efforts for the Fort McMurray wildfires and Calgary floods, led national M&A integration, and built scalable operational frameworks that support consistent service delivery across regions. His expertise includes organizational governance, budget planning, training program development, and stakeholder engagement.

Kevin holds both CIP and FCIP designations and currently serves as an elected member of the Insurance Adjusters Council. His deep commitment to the industry, practical field insight, and confident leadership makes him a trusted partner in high-value insurance and municipal assignments.
